IECOT

International Exegetical Commentary on the Old Testament

A team of international editorial board members and authors presents a multi-perspective, innovative and intensive interpretation of the books of the Old Testament in about 50 volumes.

IECOT combines an international orientation with ecumenical broadness and brings together two, often opposed perspectives, described as “synchronic” and “diachronic”.

Each volume appears both in English and German. Three to four volumes are published every year. The delay between the respective original and its translated version does not exceed two years.

The origin of the Old Testament

594 pages, € 36,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-020354-9

This teaching and textbook describes the biblical writings, first by content and structure, and then follows their process of coming into being back to the respective reason for their origin. The framework for this is the canon of the Hebrew Bible, which is defined in the introductory section by the Greek and Christian Bible and the so-called Apocrypha. The four parts of the volume are introduced by overview chapters: the Pentateuch as a whole, the Deuteronomistic historical work, the phenomenon of prophecy and Hebrew poetry. The author also appropriately discusses the progress and current state of research. Comprehensive bibliographies characterise the entire work. Anyone wishing to intensively examine the Old Testament and its origins will obtain sound information here.

Christian Frevel

History of Israel

Approx. 400 pages, Approx. € 25,-
ISBN: 978-3-17-029228-4

This transcript illustrates the „history of Israel“ from the beginnings until the Bar-Kochba insurgency 132-135 AD. The knowledge, which is indispensable for exegesis and theology studies, is passed on by the author as a matter of course and in light of current research. He uses all available sources for his illustrations: next to the bible, archaeological findings, inscriptions and artwork have been considered; it is shown by means of example how the sources are to be interpreted and where the boundaries of reconstructing history lie. For this purposes, he introduces the latest findings of archaeological and historic research and links the results to biblical interpretations in a critical manner. This produces an impression of the history of ancient Israel in the context of the Southern Levant, which is often familiar, but also fresh and unexpected.

Heide Göttner-Abendroth

Matriachal landscape mythology

From the Baltic Sea to Southern Germany

352 pages, € 29,99

ISBN: 978-3-17-022336-3

In this book, Heide Göttner-Abendroth introduces landscape mythology research using the example of German landscapes. Here, material relicts of the Neolithic/ Bronze Age cultural layer are being analysed and linked to the surrounding landscape. This requires the extensive method of "intellectual archaeology," which the author has developed through years of intensive study both at home and abroad. She not only links archaeology and geography statements, but also uses mythology, folklore (folklore and customs) and language studies in an interdisciplinary manner. In this sense, the matriachal landscape mythology is a partial area of securing evidence for early historic matriachal cultures.

Author

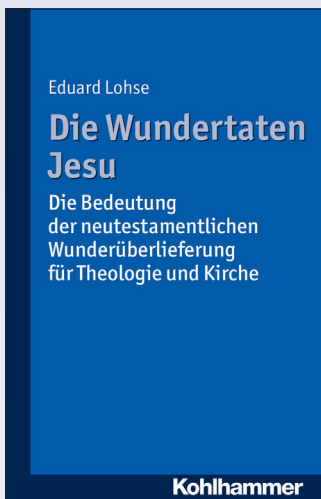

Dr. Heide Göttner-Abendroth, philosopher, is an independent scientist. She is the founder of modern matriachal research.

Target Groups

Cultural scientists, social and religious scientists, ethnologists, archaeologists, those interested in matriachal research.

The Jesus miracles

The meaning of the miracle records of the New Testament for theologians and the church

174 pages, € 19,99

ISBN: 978-3-17-028895-9

The records of the Jesus miracles is broadly covered by the gospels according to Marcus, Matthew and Lucas – a sign that early Christianity placed great importance on these stories of miracles committed by Jesus. Interpreters of the New Testament obviously noticeably refrain from judging many stories. What can the Jesus miracles tell people today? What kind of reality is being described here? First, the light in which evangelists see the miracle stories, is to be looked at. Then, the different types and forms are to be characterised, in which the ancient Christian records of the Jesus miracles have been recorded. And finally, the question is to be explored as to what the stories of the Jesus miracles say in regards to the proclamation of Evangelism – then, but also now.

Spiritual care instead of pastoral care?

240 pages, € 24,99

ISBN: 978-3-17-028905-5

The topic of spiritual care is booming! Whilst some talk about a multi-disciplinary concept of "spiritual care" from a palliative medical point of view, or of a new specialist area for human medicine, others are thinking of a more modern version of clinical pastoral care. In order to clarify this, we shall first explore the international development and expansion history. After illustrating the theoretical and practical design of spiritual care, there is room for constructively critical questions. Based on ascertainable (in-)compatibilities between spiritual care and pastoral care, Nauer provocatively puts in a nutshell, why spiritual care is a serious challenge for health care employees, pastoral carers, churches and charities/ welfare institutions.

Author

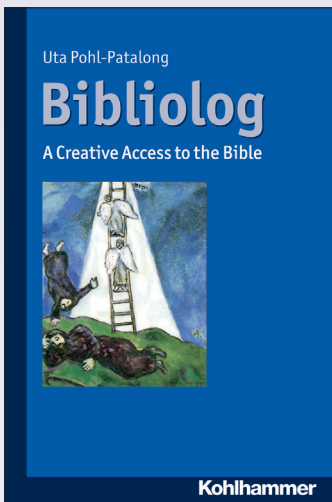

Prof. Dr. theol. Dr. med. Doris Nauer teaches pastoral theology and welfare theology at the philosophical-theological University of Applied Science in Vallendar (PTHV).

Target Groups

All health care professions: pastoral carers, theologians, those responsible for pastoral planning in dioceses/state churches, all those interested in spiritual care.

Bibliolog

A Creative Access to the Bible – English edition

160 pages, € 25,99

ISBN: 978-3-17-026970-5

„Bibliolog“ is an approach to experience the Bible as alive and important for one’s own life. A group, congregation or school class discovers biblical stories from within and interprets them by identifying with biblical characters and answering questions left unanswered by the text. Invented by North-American Jewish scholar Peter Pitzele, this approach has its roots in the Jewish tradition of Midrash. It is fascinating how quickly people – whether they have been socialized by the church or not – can be moved by biblical texts when they immediately experience how relevant they still are. Bibliolog has quickly spread across the German-speaking area and is now practiced in many different countries. The growing experience with this approach has led to the decision to offer this concise presentation to an English-speaking audience. Pohl-Patalong focuses on the basic form of Bibliolog, which can be performed in a short period of time and with groups of any size.

Prof. Dr. Uta Pohl-Patalong teaches practical theology at the University of Kiel.

Christianity with the Torah and the Gospel

Contributions towards the re-structuring of Christian theology in the light of Israel

220 pages, € 34,90

ISBN: 978-3-17-025144-1

The link to Judaism is part of the Christian identity. This has consequences in regards to the formulation of Christian theology. The own history – as a German and as a Christian – has to be accepted, traditions are to be checked and updated in such a way, that they serve life – not lastly for “the lives of the others.” This is what has been attempted through the interpretation of New Testament texts on central theologian topics. Here, the rigid dogmatic formulas of biblical statements and their Jewish context are being realised. The insights gained through the bible place Christians side by side with Jews whilst respecting remaining differences as part of a solidary partnership.

Author

Prof. Dr. Klaus Wengst teaches the New Testament and Judaism at the University of Bochum.

Peter Müller

God and the bible

240 pages, € 26,99

ISBN: 978-3-17-023260-0

The bible is, to a large extent, an intertextual work. This applies both to the Old Testament and the New Testament respectively, but also especially in regards to the link between the New and Old Testament. For this reason, it is very important to discover crosslinks. These crosslinks are being explored based on text examples – from the Torah, the records, the prophets, the gospel, the Pauline and Deutero-Pauline letters and the Revelation. As well as questions of the historic interpretation of the bible (for example fourfold exegesis, literal interpretation), fundamental biblical didactic problems are explored, and examples of the treatment of biblical texts in lessons are offered.

Author

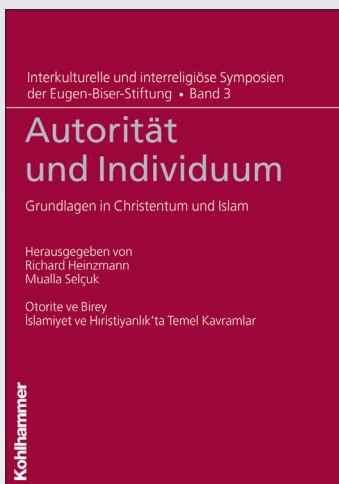

Prof. Dr. Peter Müller teaches the New Testament and religious pedagogy at PH Karlsruhe.

Target Groups

Authority and the individual

Foundations of Christianity and Islam

314 pages, € 29,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-021313-5

The link between the individual and the state or religious community on the other hand, does not occur without tension. The Christian understanding of God is a result of the opinion of understanding man as a person, who turns to good account not because they are forced, but of own conviction and free will. The resulting conscientious and religious freedom resulting thereof was, however, disputed by Christianity for a long time.

A Muslim is responsible to constructively contribute towards the societal and political structures in their community. The Koran not only reprimands obedience towards God, but also urges believers to maintain societal order, as well as to constructively contribute towards political and societal structures.

Ansgar Frenken

The Constance Council

309 pages, € 32,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-021303-6

The Constance Council has stayed in the mind due to overcoming the schism, the resignation or dismissal of the three schism pontiffs, as well as the new election of a generally recognised pontiff, furthermore the conviction and burning of Jan Hus, but also due to its reform-orientated decision-making. This fundamental overview regarding the formation, course and meaning of the Constance Council also covers these topics.

Author

Dr. Ansgar Frenken did a PhD on the scientific history of the Constance Council and is the author of scientific research regarding medieval and late medieval history on the empire, the churches and the city.

The sister seas

History of the North Sea and Baltic Sea areas

306 pages, € 29,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-020427-0

This book presents the integrated history of both seas and its neighbours for the first time, from the Antique until present times.

The author carves out the political, cultural and economic connecting and separating lines within the North European region between the British Isles in the West, Russia in the East, Iceland in the North, and Poland and Germany in the South.

Here, he illustrates colourfully and competently, how the ideal notions, but also the actual ideas of the regional and relationship history, which has lasted over centuries, positively affected solidarity, but how it also led to conflicts.

Franco

General – Dictator – Myth

314 pages, € 26,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-021513-9

Francisco Franco (1892-1975) ruled his country's history with his dictatorship for almost four decades. Since the beginnings of the dictatorship during the Spanish Civil War (1936-1939), "Cuadillo" has had a controversial personality. Whilst he represents the destruction of a civil-democratic order, cruel repression and a division of society for decades, others see him as a considerate and intelligent person acting for the good of the people. The impression at hand explores General Franco's biography in light of current research and debates surrounding his character.

Galileo Galilei

Biography of his thinking

279 pages, € 26,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-021301-2

Galileo Galilei is a central figure of the scientific revolution of the modern age. His inventive genius and urge to discover are world-renowned, the debate with the church dictates Galilei's image until today. The author presents a biography on Galilei's work and achievements, which summarises the research findings so far and re-evaluates them. There are no anecdotes or life stories. It focuses on Galilei's role in revolutionising the worldview in the 17th century, as well as the meaning of science at his time. This informed biography presents him for what he was, an outstanding explorer and inventor of the early modern age.

Author

Prof. Dr. Klaus Fischer teaches scientific theory and scientific history at the University of Trier.

Wilfried Hartmann

Charlemagne

2nd edition
340 pages, € 22,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-025572-2

Charlemagne is probably the most well-known ruler of the Middle Ages: the most important offspring of the Carolingians, as a “constructor of Europe”, he coined the times in the long-term and fascinated subsequent generations. This new biography of Charlemagne contains a breadth of information on his life through a compact and clear structure: his achievements as a conqueror, as the administrator of his empire, and as a judge, a controller of the church, defender of Christianity, and a friend of scholars and supporter of science. This leads to a life account and history of the time of Charlemagne that is definitely worth reading.

Author

Professor Dr. Wilfried Hartmann taught the history of the Middle Ages at the University of Tübingen.

Fidel Castro

367 pages, € 27,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-021486-6

White hope of the third world or inconsiderate despot? Fidel Castro, Máximo Líder of the Cuban revolution, polarises more than any other figure of the 20th century. He survived countless assassination attempts, the terms of ten US presidents and the fall of the Soviet Union. This biography shows how Castro was able to found and strengthen his charismatic rule amongst the conflict area of the superpowers, and to extend it into today despite several crises. Here, the author presents new sources and evaluates Spanish secondary literature for the first time, which lets Castro appear in a different light.

Author

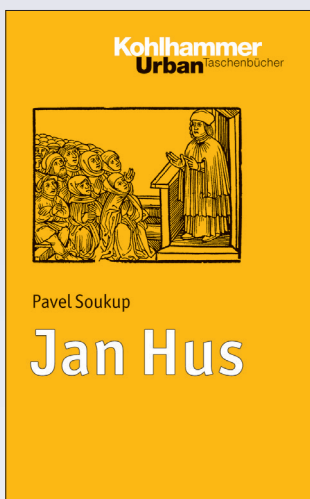

Dr. Roman Rhode is a sociologist and Hispanic, he works as a journalist and author.

Jan Hus

263 pages, € 24,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-021514-6

Jan Hus (around 1370-1415) was a heretic for the Catholic Church. In many ways he symbolises the epoch of the late Middle Ages: in an attempt to bring back the church, which had been rocked by the Great Occidental Schism, he develops a reform programme, which goes way beyond the limits of the Middle Ages.

His death by burning on the Constance Council 1415 turned him into a martyr. The illustration shows Jan Hus in his time: he is researched as a scholar and preacher of the late Middle Ages, as well as a publicly involved intellectual. The book draws a picture of Jan Hus, which is underpinned by historic arguments, and which places the events in Bohemia in a European context.

Author

Dr. Pavel Soukup is a scientific employee at the Centre for Medieval Studies at the Academy of Science in Prague.

Target Groups

Innovation

Theories, concepts and methods of innovation research

446 pages, € 39,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-022591-6

Innovations are one of the central determinants of the economic development and growth of business. Innovation management is therefore one of the central tasks of leadership. Innovation research has recently been characterised from an empirically quantitative point of view. This work, however, emphasises the theoretical conceptualised perspective, which is essential as a basis for empirically quantitative studies. This is why central business and economic theories, concepts and methods of innovation research are being explored. Furthermore, it contains an introduction into the historical development and the central publications of business economic innovation research, which has always had interdisciplinary links.

Author

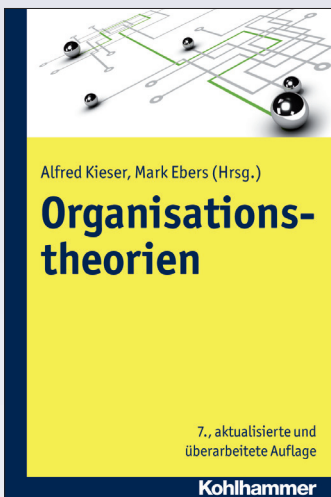

The publisher Prof. Dr. Wolfgang Burr holds a professorship in innovation and service management at the University of Stuttgart. The authors of the contributions are experts in their respective fields.

Target Groups

The work is suitable as a monograph for innovation researchers, but also as a teaching and study book for advanced students in master programmes and research studies.

Latency – the „golden age“ of childhood

Psychoanalytical development theory according to Freud, Klein and Bion

182 pages, € 29,99

ISBN: 978-3-17-026064-1

Gertraud Diem-Wille illustrates the psychoanalytical development theories of Freud, Klein and Bion in regards to the ages between 6 and 11 years. The "golden age of childhood" with its desire for development and a willingness to learn describes a normal development. However, it may also show disruptions, which had so far not been recognisable, and which present themselves as learning difficulties, behavioural problems, fits of anger or tendencies to withdraw or use violence. Extensive case studies from child analyses show how inner conflicts may be identified and integrated with the help if interpretations.

Dementia

117 pages, € 49,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-024830-4

Whilst the number of dementia patients is rising steadily, there are significant deficiencies in regards to the treatment. Dementia is often recognised too late, or not at all, and the costs for health care and nursing are very high. An improvement of the ambulant treatment is urgently needed, especially as the German federal health care system will not be able to cope with the imminent surplus requirements.

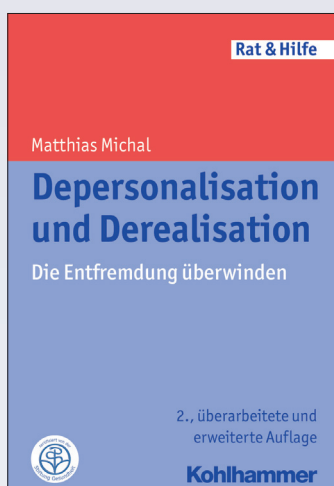

The book looks at the care deficiencies of the ambulant treatment of dementia sufferers in Germany and illustrates possible solutions, in order to contribute to a possible handling of the problems.

Target Groups

Psychiatrists, medical and psychological psychotherapists, registered psychologists, health insurance providers, medical management associations

Hand-encyclopaedia autism spectrum

Key terms from the research, theory, practice and patient perspective

492 pages, € 54,99
ISBN: 978-3-17-023431-4

Autism has been the focus of a controversial interdisciplinary discussion over the last few years. Next to enhanced criteria in regards to the diagnosis of autism, early diagnosis during infancy and more detailed tools in regards to registering autistic behaviour, the debate was increasingly characterised by the mongering of autistic behaviour. The result of this development is a breadth of expert and key terms, as well as new interpretations of existing terms. All of the significant key terms, which are important from a practical and theoretical point of view, are being addressed by the book and it therefore represents a solid scientific guide.

Authors

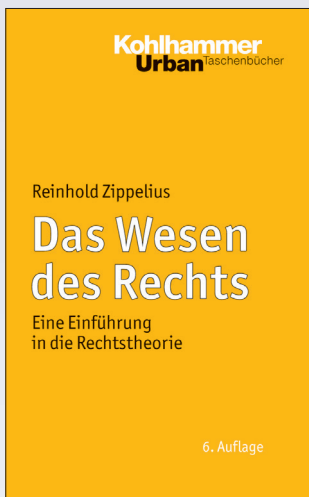

Professor Dr. Georg Theunissen holds the professorship for mentally disabled pedagogy and pedagogy for autism at the Institute for Rehabilitation Pedagogy at the University of Halle-Wittenberg. Further publishers are the scientific employees of the professorship.

Target Groups
